

NORWEGIAN TAX ACCOUNTING SYMPOSIUM 2020

sponsored by the Norwegian Centre for Taxation, Deloitte and SNF
June 8-9, 2020, Bergen

Income taxes are an important cost for firms and a major revenue source for governments. In the course of economic globalization, tax-related regulation is becoming ever more complex. The aim of the conference is to understand how tax, audit, and financial accounting rules and incentives shape firms' decisions over tax reporting, financial reporting, auditing, and investment.

We bring together leading international researchers to foster and enhance collaboration among academics. We also seek to make academic research relevant and accessible to corporate and regulatory stakeholders. Conference participants will be accounting scholars, representatives from the Norwegian Tax Authority, and practitioners.

The event is funded by the Norwegian Centre for Taxation. It will take place at Radisson Blue Royal Hotel at the historical Hanseatic Quarter Bryggen.¹

CONFIRMED SPEAKERS

Jennifer Blouin (University of Pennsylvania)
Scott Dyreng (Duke University)
Alexander Edwards (University of Toronto)
Jeffrey L. Hoopes (University of North Carolina)
Martin Jacob (WHU)
Edward L. Maydew (University of North Carolina)
Erin Towery (University of Georgia)

SCIENTIFIC COMMITTEE

Tzu-Ting Chiu (NHH)
Arnt Ove Hopland (NHH)
Petro Lisowsky (Boston University)
Mohammed Mardan (NHH)
Guttorm Schjelderup (NHH)
Maximilian Todtenhaupt (NHH)

NoCeT
Norwegian
Centre for Taxation

Deloitte

SNF
CENTRE FOR APPLIED RESEARCH AT NHH